

time and wherein said ballast means can be switched from an inoperable lamp to an operable lamp.

9. The apparatus of claim 1, above, wherein one of said lamps is brighter than the other of said lamps.

10. The apparatus of claim 9, above, further including IR filtering means interposed between the less bright lamp and its input face whereby operation with only said less bright lamp provides an NVIS compatible source for night operation.

* * * * *