

moving the electro-active polymer to a point of contact of the user's finger on the touch panel by applying a first driving voltage or current based on the detecting signal; generating a pattern signal of haptic information from the visual information based on the detecting signal; and deforming the electro-active polymer by applying a second driving voltage or current based on the pattern signal.

* * * * *