

and said first blog information available for said first user's electronic device in accordance with said first user's preferences.

15. The service platform of claim 14, wherein said transcoded clustered syndicated-style data content is transcoded clustered RSS content.

16. The service platform of claim 14, wherein said searchable blog information further comprises syndicated-style data that is structured-edited content from a standard syndicated data source.

17. The service platform of claim 14, wherein said non-syndicated-style data content comprises speech data, audio data, video data, and graphic image data.

18. The service platform of claim 14, wherein said first user's request is stored in said profile database.

19. The service platform of claim 14, wherein said gateway agent is further for receiving said first user's request, for providing said first user's request to said content server, and for authenticating the first user.

20. The service platform of claim 19, wherein said gateway agent is programmed to receive a first user's request in the form of at least one of an email format, an SMS format, a SMIL format, a MMS format, a voice format, a Markup language format, a facsimile format, and a SIP format.

21. The service platform of claim 14, wherein said gateway agent is programmed to make said cluster of syndicated-style data content and said first non-syndicated-style data content available to said first users' electronic device in at least one of an email format, a SMS format, a SMIL format, a MMS format, a voice format, a Markup language format, a facsimile format, and a SIP format.

22. The service platform of claim 14, wherein said content server searches and provides said transcoded clustered syndicated-style data content using a multidimensional clustering algorithm, said multidimensional clustering algorithm utilizes annotations from said first user's request, said annotations help define and categorize what said first user is requesting.

23. The service platform of claim 14, wherein each searchable blog information item of said searchable blog information comprises annotations that help define and categorize each searchable blog information item.

24. The service platform of claim 23, wherein said annotations comprise at least one of a centroid based annotation, a hierarchical annotation, and a density based annotation.

* * * * *